LEGISLATIVE HEARING DISCUSSION ITEM

27 RLH TA 23-76

Ratifying the Appealed Special Tax Assessment for property at 686 EDMUND AVENUE. (File No. VB2305, Assessment No. 238804) (Legislative Hearing on March 21, 2023)

Public hearing closed and laid over for four weeks to give time for Ward 1 office to provide assistance.

Also in attendance: Somdy Kong, property owner and appellant

Marcia Moermond, Legislative Hearing Officer: This is an appeal for a vacant building registration fee from October 2022 - October 2023. You originally heard an appeal for this property when it went into the vacant building program in November 2020. At that time, you granted a 3-month waiver on the fee but denied the appeal, as it had been condemned and found vacant as well. In this case, if the permits were filed for rehabilitating the property by the time of this hearing, I would recommend that the assessment be cut in half. The appellant was notified of the need to have a code compliance inspection and get permits filed back in 2020 when this was originally in front of you. During yesterday's hearing, the appellant stated that he had applied for a code compliance inspection last month and received it last week. Therefore, he would not have received finals on the permits. The appellant seemed under the misapprehension that simply applying for the permits would result in my recommendation to halve the fee. That was not ever on the table from my perspective. It seems like there was a miscommunication. I am recommending that it be made payable over 5 years. This is the 3rd vacant building fee. It seems like it might be a good time to make connections with organizations to rehabilitate the property. The code compliance inspection is square one. The fee is $2,616. It precedes the recent fee increases that you adopted.

Kong: During the 3 month extension, I did take time to clean up the property. I did pay that fee. For this year, I am saying that I don't want to pay the fee. I asked what I could do in early February to not have to pay the fee. I am short on funds at this time. She gave me a month to apply for the permit and get guys to inspect the property, and then she would halve the fee. I said I could do that. I did it and paid that fee. I talked to her yesterday and told her I did my portion. I didn't know how long the inspection people would take. If she knew that she should have given me more time. Yesterday she told me I would have to pay full, but I did my part. I have no control over inspections coming to property. No she wants to pay, but I am short on funds. If you're going to tell me one thing, that I did, why would you tell me that at the beginning? I did my part and am waiting for them to see what they are going to do to me. If I could get everything solved I would do it now.

Council President Brendmoen: Do you live in St. Paul?

Kong: Yes.

Brendmoen: So the building is vacant and you do not have a certificate of occupancy, so no one can live in there?

Kong: Correct.

Brendmoen: Do you have anything else to add?

Kong: I don't have anything else to add.

Councilmember Balenger: It sounds like they're not hearing each other. I would like to give him an opportunity to..the Ward 1 office is willing to help you with that fee or get you some help. Maybe we just put this off for 3 weeks while we do that.

Brendmoen: We don't have a meeting next week. Would 2 weeks work?

Balenger: How about a month?

Brendmoen: One month, and the question is whether to charge the vacant building fee at the old price.

Balenger: Yes.

Brendmoen: If we lay it over for a month would that switch to the new price?

Moermond: No. I would say that the next steps are getting some contractors in to get bids and get an idea of cost and asking about financing. I would be clear that those are the next steps regardless of how you move forward with the fee, which is right now at the 6 out of 12 month juncture.

Brendmoen: Just making sure we didn't accidentally bump up the fee.

Balenger moved to close the public hearing and lay over for 4 weeks.

Public hearing closed and laid over to April 19, 2023
